Note: In cases when IUB Surplus Stores assists in selling assets for our regional campuses, and those assets are not physically moved to IUB, the minimum reimbursement rate will be 80% since the regional campus will be doing most of the work needed to provide IUB Surplus Stores with the necessary info to get their items listed and sold via our online auction option. The regional campus will also be coordinating and scheduling the pickup of the item/items with the winning bidder.

Contact Todd Reid at IUB Surplus Stores if you have any questions.

ATTENTION IU COLLINITES! We have 5 of the original six panel wooden doors from Collins, built in 1924.

$300 each. The price drops $50 each week starting today down to $150.00.

Collins LLC began as Washington Hall dormitory, built in 1924. It was the first dorm owned by the university, and housed only men until 1968. Washington Hall was later renamed South Hall in 1925. In 1940, West Hall and North Hall were built, and the three dorms were collectively named the Men’s Residence Center, or MRC. However, during World War II, the MRC was commandeered by the US Navy, and used largely as a troops barracks.

In 1959, North, South, and West were renamed Cravens, Smith, and Edmondson halls respectively, and rededicated in 1961. The Living-Learning Center was created in 1972 at the dormitory as a student-led effort in response to the University seeking to take over the buildings to be turned into office space like the buildings in the Agnes E. Wells Quadrangle. In 1980, the center was named the Ralph L. Collins Living-Learning Center, and was dedicated on April 2, 1981.
One day I hope to be wealthy enough to not do a double take every time I see abandoned furniture on the side of the road.
